

WE CAN HOLD THEM.

No Reason Why the United States Should

Not Retain The Conquered Philippine Provinces of Spain in the Orient.

Washington, D. C., May 6.—If the ambassadors and ministers at Washington reflect the views of their governments the seizure of the Philippine islands by the United States meets with their approval, because they believe that the commercial importance of the archipelago will be greatly increased under a good government, which it has never had from Spain. But there is likely to be trouble if the United States attempts to transfer that territory to any other power. Russia would resist the annexation of the Philippines to Japan. Germany and France and perhaps Russia also would object to their transfer to Great Britain, and the latter government would oppose their ownership by any continental power. None of the European governments would object to the retention of the islands by the United States. They would all welcome the centre of this nation into the eastern problem, as it would divide responsibilities and make it easier to maintain what the diplomats call an equilibrium. But if there is to be an independent government established at Manila, the United States will be held responsible for good order and the safety of foreign interests there. It is not believed that the Philippines are capable of self-government. They are ignorant, uneducated and depraved, and although naturally a peaceful and submissive people, are easily aroused by grievances and appeals to their superstition. One of the ambassadors, speaking on this subject last night, predicted that the United States would be compelled to remain in possession of the islands, and that our national policy in regard to outlying colonies would be radically changed by this war.

The members of the diplomatic corps and the international lawyers here all agree that the United States has a right to hold the Philippines for indemnity or annex them to our territory, but such annexation must follow a treaty of peace and be with the consent of Spain. Of course, we would have to respect the vested rights of foreign nations in those islands, because in giving us a title Spain could only transfer her own interests and not the interests of others. Having secured a legal title we can dispose of the islands as we please; we can establish an independent government or a protectorate, or we can sell them to Japan or England or any other nation, just as a man can sell real estate that he has obtained by legacy, purchase or forfeiture. The same rules that govern private individuals govern nations in this respect, but before we can dispose of the territory we must get a clear title, because a nation, like a man, would not care to buy into a lawsuit.

"Dewey need not be heard from until he has finished his job," said a veteran naval officer this afternoon. "He will not report by installments, and that is one reason we don't hear from him. He destroyed the fleet on Sunday, and he took the town on Monday, but he needed two or three days at least to clean up and take account of the wreck, survey his vessels, ascertain that repairs are needed and how they are off for supplies. Then there is a good deal of business on shore for him to attend to which cannot be done in a minute. He will have to see the consuls of different countries and the leaders of the insurgents, provide for a temporary government and perhaps arrange for the care of a lot of prisoners. Knowing him as well as I know him, I believe that he will wait until he has everything in ship shape before he makes a report, because, in the first place, he knows that our government would be especially anxious on the points I mention, and he wants to give them complete satisfaction; and, second, because Dewey doesn't like to receive orders. He is independent, self-reliant and thinks he knows how things ought to be done. If he should make a report and then wait for instructions he would fear that Congress might intervene and tangle him up with orders. You won't receive Dewey's report in installments."

Some people at the navy department are of the opinion that the McCulloch and the Petrel, the two small boats in Dewey's squadron, were disabled during the sea fight that they could not be sent to Hongkong without some repairs, and the delay in receiving news is accounted for in that way.

The secretary of the navy expects to hear interesting news from Puerto Rico by Saturday. It is not very far across, and the New York might cover the distance in a day, but the big fleet will sail slowly and not use up its coal to make unnecessary speed. Admiral Sampson has three jobs entrusted to him, as near as I can find out—to capture Puerto Rico, to look out for the safety of the Oregon and Marietta and to meet the Spanish armada if it is coming over this way.

COMMODORE WATSON.

The Cincinnati Will Be His Flagship.

Key West, Fla., May 6.—The steamer Olivette reached here last night, but was not permitted to enter the inner harbor, owing to the new port regulations governing the movement of vessels during the war. Commodore Watson was a passenger on the Olivette.

A naval officer of high rank told the correspondent to-night that the division of Admiral Sampson's squadron, already indicated from Washington, will in all probability go into effect forthwith. Commodore Watson will raise his flag on the cruiser Cincinnati, and his command will include other cruisers and gunboats out of Cincinnati. Rear Admiral Sampson being commander of both divisions, is expected here in a few days.

The conditions of the Havana blockade remains unchanged, the line being rigidly kept by the Montgomery and other cruisers under Capt. Converse, who is still in temporary command.

The censorship of dispatches here continues very strict.

MALCOLM BODDIE DEAD.

Interment at the Old Homestead Near Lafayette.

Malcolm McNeil Boddie, of Chicago, died very suddenly at Waco, Texas, at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. He was in the habit of spending his winters in Waco, and had been there for several months. Mr. Boddie was a native of this county and was about 40 years of age. He was a man of large means, having inherited a fortune from his grand-father, the late Malcolm McNeil.

He was in partnership with his brother, Geo. T. Boddie. He leaves two other brothers, George Boddie, of Lafayette, and Nick Boddie, of Guthrie. The latter was with him and came back with the body, which is due to arrive at Henderson to-day. The interment will take place at the family graveyard near Lafayette.

Mr. Jas. S. Parrish, who is known to many people in and about Hopkinsville, was married on April 26 to Mrs. Horton, a very wealthy widow of Brooklyn, N. Y. The marriage took place at Chattanooga, Tenn.

MR. WATSON

TURNED HER LOOSE!

French Steamer Captured and Towed to Key West.

THE SPANISH FLEET IS HORRIBLY EXPECTED AT SAN JUAN, PORT RICO.

No Word from Commodore Dew Since Monday—Spanish Rioters Release Prisoners and Dynamite Stores for Bread.

Key West, May 6.—(Special)—The Government has instructed Commodore Watson to instantly release the French Steamer Lafayette and send her to Havana under escort. The act turns out to have been an unfortunate mistake.

A Frenchman Captured.

Key West, Fla., May 6.—(Special) The Lafayette, of the French General Trans-Atlantic Company's line, a vessel of 3,394 tons gross register, bound from Corunna, Spain, on April 23, for Havana, was captured yesterday evening off the latter port by the United States gunboat Annapolis, Commander J. J. Hunter, while trying to run the blockade, after having previously been warned off. She had board a large number of passengers and a valuable general cargo, possibly containing contraband of war.

The Lafayette, which hails from St. Nazaire, France, is a fine vessel of the old type. She is 344 feet long, has 44 feet beam and is 28 feet deep. She was built in 1864, at Greenock, of iron.

The Lafayette was heading for Havana, and was boarded by an officer of the Annapolis and warned not to enter port. She afterwards made an attempt to do so, and was captured, in an exciting chase. The Wilmington, Newport and Moorhik took part in the capture of the Frenchman.

After an examination of the Lafayette's papers had been made, a prize crew from the Annapolis was placed on board. She was sent to Key West, escorted by the Wilmington.

How it is Viewed at Washington.

Washington, May 6.—The seizure of the French steamer Lafayette by the gunboat Annapolis caused a distinct sensation in official and diplomatic circles here, as it was believed to involve possibility of more serious foreign complications than had arisen theretofore.

In the State Department it was taken as a foreboding of a number of cases of a like character to follow, for this was the experience of the United States blockading forces during the civil war.

Taking the facts as reported, the officials of the department declare positively, and in this they are supported by the unanimous voice of the naval officials, that there can be no question that the Lafayette was a blockade runner pure and simple, and as such is a fair prize.

Serious Complications.

Washington, May 6.—It seems that France will be tempted to interfere in the Spanish-American war as a result of the seizure of the Lafayette.

The French Minister has protested against holding a vessel, in spite of the fact that it contained contraband goods aboard.

The best authority here is of the opinion that the American authorities will not release the ship, in which case very serious complications may result.

The Spanish Fleet Expected.

San Juan, May 6.—(Special)—Preparations are being made for the arrival of the Spanish Caca Verde fleet momentarily expected.

The McCulloch Went Back.

London, May 6.—(Special)—It is asserted that when dispatch boat McCulloch recently reached Hong Kong, she heard of battle and hurried back.

Still Nothing From Dewey.

Washington, D. C., May 6.—(Special)—Another day elapses and not a word has been heard from Dewey. Respecting Spain's movements the department remains mute.

More Rioting in Spain.

Madrid, May 6.—(Special)—Further disorders have broken out in various places. At Murcia a mob tore down the court roof and released the prisoners and destroyed a store with dynamite and tributed its contents.

The Temerario Sails.

Buenos Ayres, May 6.—Via Galveston, Tex.—The Spanish torpedo gunboat Temerario sailed this morning, presumably northward.

More Spanish Bluster.

Madrid (via Paris), May 7.—It is alleged that the Government of Cuba and Porto Rico have cabled that there is "no need to fear a landing of American troops in those islands; that two or three cruisers and three transports will leave Cadiz for the chase of the Yankees from the Philippines and then bomb the islands."

Queen Ready to Go.

Vienna, May 6.—Agents have been saved at a hotel for the Queen Regent of Spain, who arrives before a parting with her husband.

been prepared for her in her brother's palace.

Telegrams from the Austrian Ambassador at Madrid, Count Dubsky, indicate that the Queen Regent is only waiting a suitable moment to quit Spain without detriment to the interests of her son.

Confederates Don the Blue.

Washington, May 6.—"Fighting Joe" Wheeler was the first of the Major-General's of the volunteer army to be mustered in.

Gen. Wheeler was not only the first Major General to be mustered into the volunteer army, but he was also the first ex-Confederate officer to receive a commission in the military service of the United States. Half an hour later Gen. Fitzhugh Lee formally took the oath of office.

Alger May Resign.

Washington, May 6.—There is every reason to believe that Secretary Alger is soon to retire from the Cabinet, the reason assigned being the inability of the Secretary and the head army officials to agree upon the policy of the service.

Should Alger's retirement be definitely decided upon the probabilities are that Gen. Schofield will be called into the Cabinet.

The Pope For Peace.

New York, May 6.—A Rome special asserts that the Pope has sent a telegram to the Queen Regent of Spain, earnestly advising an immediate appeal to the European powers for mediation in the war with America. His Holiness is said to have promised his support and that of the powers to obtain an honorable solution of the difficulty.

Two Little Ones.

Key West, May 6.—Two little prizes were brought in to-day. They were both Spanish fishing schooners, of no great value, the Oriente and the Antonio Suarez.

WANT TO FOLLOW DEWEY'S

Plan—Officers and Men on Sampson's Fleet Anxious for Quick Action.

Washington, May 6.—Since the news of Admiral Dewey's brilliant dash on the Philippines reached the ships of Admiral Sampson's squadron, strong pressure has been brought to bear on the navy department to allow a similar movement in the Atlantic, and pleas have been numerous in favor of permitting a rush on Havana or Porto Rico. The strategy board in every case has decided with emphatic unanimity against all such propositions. It is pointed out that Admiral Dewey's decisive operations were rendered compulsory by the presence of the Spanish fleet at Manila, and the principal achievement to be credited to him is the annihilation of that fleet, giving him supreme control of the Pacific ocean.

The strategy board is firm in its convictions that the principal task of the American navy is to whip the Spanish navy, and as soon as an opportunity is afforded no effort will be spared to accomplish that object. There would not be the slightest hesitation in sending Admiral Sampson's and Commodore Schley's armadas pell-mell after the Spaniards were there any chance of securing a decisive engagement with them. If they were in the harbor of San Juan, Porto Rico, the American force would be ordered to rush them at any risk, but it is not proposed to allow the battleships, however impetuous and impatient their commanders may be, to take chances of disablement by storming coast defenses, which, if reduced, could not be held without prompt action of a large army, never yet mobilized.

Before Admiral Dewey destroyed the Spanish Asiatic fleet many requests reached Washington from the blockading squadron off Cuba to destroy the batteries which the Spanish were rapidly improvising directly in sight of the American ships, and ten days ago Admiral Sampson was given leave to put an end to some work of this character at Punta Gorda, near Matanzas. When he accomplished it with little or no risk to his own ships, repeated efforts were made to secure permission for other bombardments of some kind, but the strategy board has refused to recommend them.

OFF FOR LEXINGTON.

Latham Light Guards Leave Over 1 C. This Morning.

With Banners Flying and Drums Beating The Soldier Boys Will Say Farewell To-Day.

The Armory of company "D," and the streets of the city presented animated and warlike pictures last night. The local soldier boys were about to bid farewell for a time, some of them, perhaps, forever to the city and its familiar scenes. The boys were on the streets throughout the day in uniform and every train brought in the new recruits from neighboring towns, who had previously enlisted and had been notified that the company would move this morning. Groups of young soldiers stood upon the street corners discussing the plans of the morrow and the events which the future might have in store for them. All of them were cheerful, however, and in the best possible spirits. The prospect of wars horrors had no power to chill their ardor or dampen their enthusiasm.

Capt. Feland had the regular company out on the streets for an exhibition drill at four o'clock and the boys were cheered as they marched by with the steady step and precision of veterans.

The order had been issued for all members of the company to be at the Armory at 7:30 o'clock. Long before that hour the great hall was filled with soldiers, their mothers, sisters, brothers, sweethearts and friends. And many a sweetheart was there and eyes met eyes in tender glances and some of the eyes were moist.

The old company was again on the street under arms marching and counter-marching to the martial music of the soul-stirring drum.

At ten o'clock Capt. Feland released the men for an hour, issuing orders that every man who expected to leave this morning should be in the armory at 11 o'clock sharp.

The soldiers slept on their blankets in the armory last night. At 6:50 they will march to the I. C. station and take the train for Louisville, the coaches having arrived yesterday.

Dr. Bell Leaves.

Dr. Austin Bell received a telegram last night ordering him to report at Lexington to-day for examination as to his qualifications for surgeon in the army. The news was received while Co. D. was giving an exhibition drill with hearty cheers by the soldier boys, who were anxious to have Dr. Bell go with them. He left for Lexington last night for Bowling Green.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

Thos. McGavock Considerably Damaged From Contact With the Catlets.

Thos. McGavock, col., appeared before Judge Leavelle of the city court yesterday and told the wonderful story of "woes unnumbered" and outrages without end.

At his instance warrants were issued against Thomas Catlett and his wife, and also a son of Catlett. It appears from his story that Catlett's wife appeared at the castle door of McGavock on the previous night and, upon admittance being refused, battered it in with a kettle. Then she attacked McGavock with the kettle inflicting severe bruises. He attempted to hold the infuriated amazon to prevent further damage to his person. At this juncture and while the combatants were crumpled and the engagement was at its height, Thomas Catlett, husband of the woman, hove in sight. When he saw the situation he put in full steam and arrived at the theater of action. Then he began to rain broadsides upon McGavock and aft with his heavy batteries almost demolishing the latter. Then the consorts set sail in triumph from the scene of victory. When McGavock, Jr., was apprised of what had happened, he straightway left Port McGavock under sealed orders, sailing directly to Catlett's. He too pounded Catlett a few with his heavy guns and returned to his port. Judge Leavelle will adjust matters between the belligerents this morning.

The Cruiser St. Paul, Capt. Sigbee's new ship, has gone to the front.

Spain is said to be short of ammunition and unprepared for a naval battle.

Why not get a search warrant and go to hunt for the Spanish armada?

It is strange none of the yellow journals has thought to come out of Manila paper.

Spanish soldiers captured on the Argonauta have been sent to Fort McPherson.

Russia is said to be very friendly towards the United States and not at all liable to do us any harm.

The Spaniards around Lexington, Ky., may as well surrender. The Kentucky troops will be there in three days.

Spain's invincible fleet has not yet been located since it was dragged out by the heels from under Portugal's bed.

Fighting Joe Wheeler has already reported for duty and wants a good place near the front, to try his new commission as a Major General in blue.

The pictures of Gen. Jas. H. Wilson, one of McKinley's new generals, show him taken with a plug hat on. Take it off, General. Somebody will be sure to ask you where you got it.

The Cruiser Charleston, now at San Francisco, will convey the relief expedition to Manila. Capt. H. Class has been detailed to command her.

Another ultimatum should be sent to Spain. She should be given to understand that if she does not come over here to be licked, that we will send her here.

Private Engleman, of the Third cavalry, is on trial at Chattanooga for desertion, and may be shot. In times of war, it will not do to monkey with Uncle Sam.

Sir Charles Dilke, the great English authority on international law, declares that there is no ground upon which the powers could interfere with the permanent control of the Philippines by America.

Gen. Blanco opened the autonomist Congress in Cuba this week with much pomp and ceremony, but the chances are that the Congress will have no greater question to deal with than the simple request, "May I go out?"

The Lexington Daughters of the American Revolution have already celebrated Dewey's victory at Manila. Wouldn't it have been better to have waited until Dewey himself was heard from?

A majority of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs favor the immediate annexation of Hawaii. If we are ever to take this Sandwich off the lunchcounter, the present time seems a most opportune one. We need just about such a coaling station, situated as it is half way between here and our Philippine possessions.

There seems to be no longer room for doubt that Spain is on the verge of a political upheaval. Compared to the troubles at home, the rebellions in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines, and the war with the United States, are mere trifles. The very throne itself is tottering on the brink of a bottomless abyss.

It was an inexcusable piece of bad management to let the Alfonso go into Porto Rico, without even a convoy, and unload a cargo of supplies, 1,100 soldiers and $500,000 in money. The American navy of thirty odd ships was within 1,000 miles of Porto Rico, and ready and anxious to prosecute the war. The incompetents at Washington are so far making the war in Cuba a roasting farce, instead of a tragedy.

ON TO PORTO RICO.

Destination of Sampson's Fleet
Now at Sea.

Washington, May 6.—Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet is now sailing east under full steam for Porto Rico. The Cape Verde fleet, it is believed by the officials here, is also speeding for the same port, manned by a crew in vengeance schooled. Admiral Sampson's fleet should arrive first and have time to take the city before the Spanish fleet puts in its appearance.

Soon after the squadron, consisting of the battleships Iowa and Indiana, the cruisers Cincinnati and Detroit and the dispatch boat Magdower, left Key West yesterday they were met off the coast by two of three double-turreted monitors, the Puritan and the Amphitrite, as soon as this juncture was affected the sealed orders were opened, which directed Admiral Sampson to sail for Porto Rico and to either destroy or occupy the coaling station as a naval basis before the Spanish squadron arrived.

The Cape Verde fleet will not be allowed to land, but be engaged in open sea. There is no doubt but that this will be the next great naval battle. The President is now thoroughly convinced that the Spaniards are speeding rapidly for Porto Rico and it was this knowledge that caused him to direct Admiral Sampson to speed with all haste to Porto Rico.

There is no concealing the fact that the officials here are becoming anxious about the safety of Commodore Dewey and his fleet. It has now been four days since a word was received from the Philippine Islands. Ample time has elapsed for a vessel sailing from the Philippines after the engagement Monday have reached Hong Kong. This, together with the fact that the cable remains out of order, adds to the general anxiety felt.

The idea is entertained that in the second engagement the American fleet might have become disabled or have run out of coal. It has also been suggested, and this is probably the most reasonable theory thus far advanced, that the presence of the entire fleet is needed in Philippine water and thus far Commodore Dewey has been unable to secure a vessel for the purpose of sending information to Hong Kong to be transmitted to Washington.

Nevertheless, the officials are anxious, and the delay of each additional day in the receipt of news adds to the anxiety already felt. In the meantime the government is making every preparation for the sending of troops to the Philippines as soon as word is received from Commodore Dewey. Vessels have already been chartered at San Francisco and troops are waiting on the Pacific coast for orders to move. The Government is thoroughly satisfied that it is necessary to send at least 1,000 men to the Philippines in order to preserve order.

SHORT SPANISH DICTIONARY.

What the Words in the War News
Dispatches Mean.

The war has introduced to the newspaper readers of the land a host of unfamiliar words—the names of Cuban towns and Spanish naval vessels. The meaning and pronunciation of some of them are already familiar, but in order that the casual reader may better understand that which he reads the Star herewith presents the meaning of a number of Spanish words of interest found in the dispatches. As to the pronunciation of the Spanish words, the following general rules apply:

Every letter in the Spanish language is given its full value. There are no silent letters.

The doubt is given a liquid, stirring sound. For instance, the word Callao, is pronounced Kah-yah-o. Castellar is pronounced Cas-tay-yar.

The letter a takes the broad pronunciation as in far; e takes the sound of the English long a; i is pronounced like the English e; as also y; o is long; u is pronounced oo, as in booth. Ch is sounded as in the English word church.

Following is a short dictionary of Spanish words and phrases for newspaper readers:

ALASKAN LAND BILL.

And the Labor Arbitration Measure Passed By the House.

Washington, May 6.—The House has disposed of two important measures. The Alaskan Land Bill extending the homestead law to and providing for certain railway rights in the district of Alaska as amended by the Senate and agreed upon by the conference was passed. The labor arbitration measure, providing for the arbitration of labor disputes between employees and certain common carriers, a bill which had received very wide endorsement by labor organizations throughout the country, received the approval of the House. A number of minor bills were also passed. The House adjourned until Monday.

Leaves His Home.

Bowling Green, Ky., May 6.—S. L. Cherry, nephew of Prof. H. H. and T. C. Cherry, of the Southern Normal School, is gone and no one knows where. Several days ago he enlisted in Company A here but his father, Rev. J. Cherry, opposed his going, as he is young (about 17) and not very healthy. He was accordingly rejected and has since been despondent. Yesterday morning he left a note saying he was going away, but gave no idea as to where, and has not since been seen. He has been attending school here since September. He has doubtless gone where his identity will be unknown to enlist in a Cuban expedition, as he was extremely anxious to enlist in the army. He has an older brother, Clarence Cherry, who is a member of Company A here. His father is a prominent minister of the gospel of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and now lives at Franklin, Ky.

Dr. Blackwell Sent Home.

The Williamsburg company arrived at Lexington and went into camp Thursday. To-day all of the companies of the Second regiment are expected to arrive. The Third regiment will report Saturday, and the First on Monday. The Board of Medical Examiners yesterday passed on applicants for surgeons of the Second regiment. They accepted Drs. Farmer and Winn, but rejected Dr. E. L. Blackwell, of Henderson. Mustering Officer Ballance, wired Gov. Bradley to commission another man in Dr. Blackwell's place, but the Governor refused to do so. Capt. Ballance says applicants should be commissioned by the Governor, and unless this is done he will make his own selections. There is much dissatisfaction among the many applicants for places, owing to the failure to make selections by competitive examination. Capt. Ballance says all the regiments are to be brought to Lexington at the earliest moment, because of the fact that a large amount of drilling will be required.

Topics of the Day.

Frances E. Willard, The Best-Known Woman of the Century, "is the title of the leading article of the May number of Demorest's Magazine. Miss Willard was probably the best beloved, as well as the "best known" woman of the day; hence this most comprehensive and sympathetic biography, which is beautifully illustrated, will be of special interest to women all over the world.

Harriet Monroe's series of articles on "French Women" which have been so charmingly and interestingly illustrated by Penrhyn Stanlaw, will be completed in this number. The last of the series "An Old Age" is an extremely clever as well as faithful pen picture of the French women past middle life.

The surviving members of the Forty-first regiment of Kentucky Federal volunteers held a meeting at Covington and tendered their services to Governor Bradley.

Newport is arranging for the establishment of a free library.

CURFEW SHALL NOT

Ring To-Night, and May Not Ring at All.

Regular Meeting of the City Council—Considerable Business of Importance.

The city council met in regular monthly session last night in the city court room. All of the members were present. Mayor Dabney called the body to order shortly after 8 o'clock and the council entered into the business before it without delay.

The usual monthly claims were read and allowed.

The reports of the several city officials for the month ending April 30 were presented, accepted and ordered filed.

The city Treasurer's report showed receipts for the month $2,193.95, cash on hand $5,193.54, total $8,293.54; expenditures $5,379.25—balance in Treasury April 30, $2,714.24 school fund; balance deficit March 30, 1898, $996.49; expenditures for April $1,120.03—total school fund deficit $1,904.42.

The report of the chief of police shows that he collected during the month $98.30 and that the Judge's costs amounted to $21.00.

The city Judge's report is as follows: Amount fines imposed, $295.50; collected on old fines $43.80; worked out $143; cash on fines $98.30; cash by Judge $21; reprieved and time allowed $77.

Mr. Chas. Knight made a very humorous address to the council asking to be released from the payment of taxes on a couple of country dogs wrongfully assessed. His request was granted by the Board.

By order of the council $25.75 of cancelled coupons of the bonds were burned.

The city attorney was instructed to draw a routine ordinance. Other routine matters prolonged the session till a late hour.

A VALUABLE RELIC.

Marine Rifle From the Wreck of the Battleship Maine.

Bought From a Diver By Lieut. Cyrus Radford and Sent to His Brother.

Mr. Jas. A. Radford came into the city yesterday and found awaiting him at the express office one of the most interesting relics that has ever reached this country.

It was a U. S. marine rifle which belonged to one of the gallant men who went down with the Maine in Havana harbor. It was purchased from a diver at Key West by Lieut. Cyrus S. Radford, of the United States Navy. The diver had brought it from the wreck at the bottom of the harbor.

There are marks of the terrific explosion on the piece. The stock is split, and a portion of wood about the barrel blown away. The magazine is also broken but the lock is in perfect condition. The gun is a type of the rifle in use by the marine corps of the navy, the latest patent on it being 1893. It is made by the Winchester Arms Company and carries a steel bullet of very small caliber. It is said that these rifles will kill a man at a distance of two miles and will go through a piece of seasoned oak twenty-eight inches in thickness.

Mr. Radford has a relic which will grow in value and in interest as the years go by, associated as it is with one of the most dramatic and terrible events in our national history.

HOTEL WILLIAMSON.

Only a Couple of Guests Are Left With the County Host.

The Hotel Williamson, sometimes known as the County Bastille, is not enjoying the large and lucrative patronage which it had before the late session of the Christian Circuit Court. In fact nearly all of its guests departed shortly after the adjournment of court, a majority of them going to Eddyville, where they will have the advantage of the river breeze.

Only two guests remain. These are Russell, the Caldwell county white capper, who does not think the climate of his own county conducive to his health and safety, and Woosley, who recently unlocked the door of his chamber and deserted Mr. Williamson, but was subsequently induced to return.

John Ezell, who was charged with appropriating Sundry articles of apparel from county attorney Otho H. Anderson, was yesterday discharged by Judge Cansler, the evidence not warranting the court in holding him over.

There is no revelation that a bachelor won't go to heaven when he dies.
